Mr. A. J. Fletcher
Box 1406
Raleigh, N. C.

Dear Mr. Fletcher:

I hereby request permission to employ a local young man who is very much interested in this line of business and would like to learn the various ways and means in which we operate.

This young man states that he is very well acquainted with you, and for this reason will not need any other form of recommendation. I too, have been closely associated with this young man during the past year.

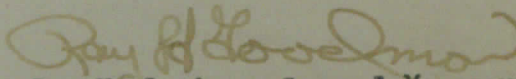

At the present time this applicant is in school, and will only be available for work on Saturday, but states that he is learning the business in school, and would like to acquire some practical knowledge with us. He is willing to work for 60¢ per Saturday.

This young man is of excellent character, his name being James Fletcher Goodmon. If you think an interview advisable, I will make the necessary arrangements.

I would like to have your opinion and approval regarding this matter as soon as possible. I definitely need a man of this type to assist us on Saturdays, even though this position will be of a temporary nature.

Yours respectfully,

FIRST COLONY DISTRIBUTORS, INC.

Ray H. Goodmon, General Manager
Appliance Division

Dear Mr. Goodmon:

Re: James Fletcher Goodmon.

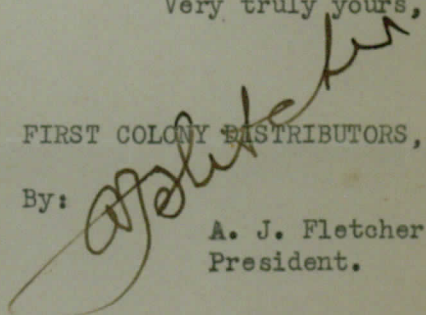

The young man above referred to is indeed well known to me, and well liked. I think he is very energetic and will be very loyal to his employers. I unhesitatingly recommend his addition to the staff for Saturday service of a temporary nature.

Convey to him my best wishes for a long, profitable and happy business career.

Very truly yours,
